

KCC vs. Millennium

After a rake of fines being handed for some late arrivals, the Infidels captain kept on with his great run of losing the toss and the mighty Infidels were sent in on a belter of a deck.

Matt I want to be a Crusader Collins started the innings off in fine fashion dispatching the Millennium opening bowlers to all parts of the ground. Whilst Collins was trying to bring the crowds back to cricket, the batting order had to be shuffled around as Peter Vouchers Wooden took it upon himself to disappear for 45 mins and due to this, low and behold an Infidels collapse started. I want to be a Crusader Collins was bowled and then Killer who had been in some good form all year fell for a golden duck, due to Vouchers being stuck on the toilet. Barney was not sidetracked by the mini collapse that Peter Vouchers Wooden had created and was seeing off a good opening spell by the Millennium openers, Nugget attended the crease and was gifted 4 free hits early in his innings, which finally helped him to hit the ball of the square! With Barney batting well we managed to get the score up to the 100 run mark for no further losses, until low and behold once again the guins (umpires) decided to get involved! After the worst piece of umpiring I have seen in HK or anywhere in the world, Barney was given out caught behind by the square leg umpire for a well compiled 30, this brought Vouchers I have decided I am ready to bat now to the crease, unfortunately from here on we were only able to build small partnerships and the Infidels were rolled for 180 on a road.

Due to the Infidels early finish to the innings we were handed a 40 minute session at the opposition before lunch, unfortunately we were not able to jag any wickets and Millennium went to the break being 0- 60 off 9 over's and the upper hand, which they did not hold for much longer!

After a good feed into the boys, we hit the ground running and straight after the break Vouchers took his first wicket of the innings and with Mushy bowling stump to stump at the other end, the pressure was started to be applied to Millennium. Soon Mushy decided to get into the wickets and jagged two quick wickets with a great spell of bowling and now the Infidels had a sniff! Waqar was brought on and the screws were tightened further, with all bowlers bowling in partnerships runs were becoming very hard to come by and wickets started to fall on a regular basis. After Waqar picked up 3 quick wickets, Vouchers was brought on to wrap up the tail and that he did, taking a further 3 quick wickets and Millennium were all out for 150. It was a great bowling effort by the Infidels to defend 180 and credit has to go to Waqar, Mushy and Vouchers for taking wickets on a regular basis yet bowling to the fields set.

As we are getting some regular games at the moment the Infidels are really starting to come together and guys are hitting form at the right end of the season, if the Infidels can string a few more wins on the trot we will be semi final bound!

At KCC: KCC Infidels 184 from 39 overs (Anthony Barnet 31, Sean Montague 60) beat Millennium CC 157 from 38.2 overs (Asif 33; Peter Wooden 8.2-2-24-4, Waqar Dawood 10-1-22-3) by 27 runs.
